1. Statement of intent

George Salter Academy accepts that personal mobile phones and tablets are often given to pupils by their parents to ensure their safety and personal security.

Mobile phones, digital music players and other personal electronic devices have become more widely available.

As a school, we must make a sensible and practical response. We understand that parents wish their children to carry a mobile phone for their personal safety, whilst students may wish to bring additional devices to the academy for other reasons, however, the Academy has a no mobile phone policy. If students are seen with their mobile phones out then they will be confiscated and returned at the end of the following day. The Academy takes no responsibility for any such devices that are brought on to the site.
